

Brown Named Dean of Faculties

Brown

John Anthony Brown, Jr., Vice-President for Plans and Resources, has been named successor to Vice Admiral O. S. Colclough as Dean of Faculties.

Mr. Brown's election by the University's Board of Trustees as Vice President and Dean of Faculties was reported in a joint announcement in April by Board Chairman Newell W. Ellison and University President Thomas H. Carroll. "The new appointment will take effect September 1, upon the retirement of Dean Colclough. In his 15 years of dedicated service to the University, Admiral Colclough has served as Dean of the Law School, Acting President and Dean of Faculties."

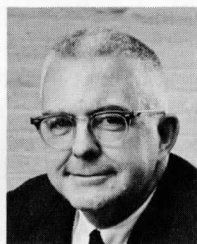

Vice President Brown came to The University in early 1963 from Occidental College in Los Angeles, where he was Vice President. He previously served as Assistant to the President of Temple University in Philadelphia.

A graduate of Temple University, Mr. Brown pursued graduate studies and research at the University of Chicago and Princeton University.

Hospital Pavilion Construction Begins

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the University Hospital's new Eugene Meyer Pavilion were held on May 11, with Mrs. Agnes Meyer and Federal and District Government officials joining with the University for the event.

When completed, the new pavilion's major section will be five stories high and will add approximately 115 beds to the present 430-bed facilities.

The addition, on the 22nd Street side of the present building, and other improvements will cost 7.5 million dollars, and will enable the Hospital to expand its patient care, research, and teaching. Included will be new operating rooms and a floor designed for research.

In a tribute to Eugene Meyer, former publisher of the Washington Post, for whom the pavilion is named, and to Mrs. Agnes Meyer, University Board Chairman at 11 a.m. in the University Yard, and the Annual Awards Tea honoring outstanding students at 4 p.m. in Lisner Lounge.

The General Alumni Association's Awards Ceremony, Saturday, June 6, at 11 a.m. in Lisner Auditorium, will honor alumni for service to alumni organizations, as well as faculty members who complete 25 years' service to the University this year.

Receiving Alumni Service Awards will be Edgar R. Baker, AB '41, for his work as Chairman of the 1963-64 Annual Support Program, and Alfred E. Brigulio, MD '36, for his long service to the GAA, and to Colonials, Inc., and the Medical Alumni Association. He served as President of the latter two organizations.

Twenty-five year faculty citations will be presented to Emil H. Bauersfeld, Associate in Medicine; Ralph G. Beachley, Professor Emeritus of Clinical Public Health Practice in Residence; Paul Calabrisi, Professor of Anatomy; James A. Dusbabek, Associate Clinical Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology; Hayden Kirby-Smith, Associate Clinical Professor of Dermatology; Benjamin Manchester, Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine; Reginald H. Mitchell, Clinical Instructor in Pediatrics; John L. Parks, Dean of the School of Medicine and Medical Director of the University Hospital; John H. Peacock, Associate in Pediatrics; Barton W. Richwine, Associate in Obstetrics and Gynecology; Floyd S. Rogers, Jr., Associate in Obstetrics and Gynecology; and Carl H. Walther, Professor of Engineering and Applied Science.

A special posthumous citation will be made to John W. Trenis, Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine, whose death on March 26 occurred six days before the beginning of his 25th year at the University. Mrs. Trenis will accept the citation.

Alumni, faculty, students, and parents are invited to the Alumni Awards Ceremony, and to a luncheon immediately following at Faculty Club. The members of the Board of Trustees will attend. The price of the luncheon will be $2.50. Reservations may be made by calling (FE 8-0652) or writing the Alumni Office, 2000 H St., N. W.

John W. McCormack, Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives (left), was the speaker at the University's Winter Convocation in February. Representative McCormack, who received the degree of Doctor of Public Service, is shown with (from left) University President Thomas H. Carroll; Laurance S. Rockefeller, Chairman of Rockefeller Brothers, Inc., who received the degree of Doctor of Public Service; and Charles B. Thornton, President and Chairman of the Board of Litton Industries, who received the degree of Doctor of Commercial Science.

Medical Assembly

The School of Medicine's Closing Assembly will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, June 6, in Lisner Auditorium, with Harold Stevens, Professor of Neurology, as speaker.

President's Reception

Saturday evening, from 8:30 to 11 p.m., the President's Reception for graduates and their parents will be held at the Mayflower Hotel.

Baccalaureate Sermon by Provost

University Provost and Dean of Faculties O. S. Colclough will deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon at services at Washington Cathedral at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 7.

Commencement Honors Faculty and Alumni

The Commencement Procession will begin at 8 p.m., Sunday, June 7, in the University Yard (in case of rain, Constitution Hall). In addition to the presentation of honorary degrees and degrees in course, emeritus status will be conferred on four faculty members, and three Alumni Achievement Awards will be presented.

Receiving emeritus status will be Oswald S. Colclough, who will be named Professor Emeritus of Law and Dean of Faculties Emeritus; Robert M. Cooper, Professor Emeritus of Law; Helen B. Lawrence, Professor Emeritus of Physical Education for Women; and Gretchen L. Rogers, Professor Emeritus of German.

An Alumni Achievement Award in the field of Law and Public Service will be presented to Allen W. Dulles, LLB '26, LLD '59, former Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, author, and presently Consultant in International Affairs.

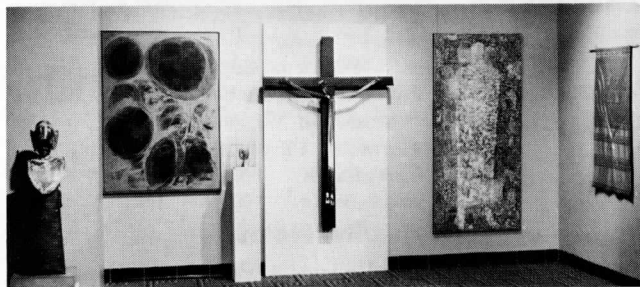

Veryl Gladys Schult, AM in Ed '38, specialist and consultant in mathematics, author of textbooks, and director of mathematics institutes, will receive an Alumni Achievement Award in the field of Mathematics Education.

A third Alumni Achievement Award, in the field of Government and Philanthropy, will be presented posthumously. The recipient, William W. McPeak, died March 31. Mrs. McPeak will accept the award. University President Thomas H. Carroll has paid special tribute to Mr. McPeak: "William McPeak was a man of practical wisdom. Although he loved to engage in intellectual play with concepts and theories, he had both respect for and strong desire to develop effective operating arrangements designed to get things done. Despite the fact that he was the victim of physical malady throughout most of his adult life, seldom, if ever, did one hear from him any complaint. He used his time of enforced rest to read widely. As a result, he developed a catholicity of interest which enabled him to arrive at unusually informed judgments in a variety of fields. He will be sorely missed by all who knew him."

Religion and the Fine Arts

University students offered a dramatic production, The Potting Shed, by Graham Greene; a modern dance production featuring Jeremiah; and a concert by chorus and orchestra including Brahms' German Requiem. An exhibit of contemporary religious art, with works by some of Washington's outstanding artists, was introduced by a lecture by Grose Evans, Curator of the Index of American Design at the National Gallery of Art. Shows on local radio and television stations featured University faculty comment on "Religion and the Creative Artist" and "The Crucifixion in Art." A symposium series presented University faculty and distinguished guests discussing "The Religious Dimension of Graham Greene"; "The Roots of Creativity"; and "Dance and Religion."

Newell Ellison said: "More than half of the matching funds were the gifts of a family to whom this community has long been indebted. Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer and her late husband, Eugene, have set an example of public service unequalled in the Nation's Capital."

Speaker of the House John W. McCormack said that his introduction of legislation to provide matching Government funds for the construction was "one of the greatest pleasures of my political and personal life."

Other Government officials participating in the ceremonies were Philip H. DesMarais, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare; Walter N. Tobriner, President of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia; and Murray Grant, Director of the Department of Public Health of the District of Columbia.

Participating from the University with Mr. Ellison were President Thomas H. Carroll; John Parks, Dean of the School of Medicine and Medical Director of the Hospital; Seymour Alpert, Professor of Anesthesiology; Victor F. Ludewig, Hospital Administrator; and Samuel B. Itscoitz, Medical School Senior Class President. Mrs. Martin A. Mason, President, represented the Hospital Women's Board.

Representing the donors with Mrs. Meyer were Trustee Carleton E. Smith and Burks Summers. Slocum Kingsbury, Partner, represented the architectural firm of Faulkner, Kingsbury, and Stenhouse, and the contractor's representative was Jack Bender, President of the Blake Construction Company, Inc.

The General Alumni Association's Annual Business Meeting will be held Friday, June 19, 1964, at 4:30 p.m. at the Alumni Lounge, Bacon Hall, 2000 H St., N.W. All Active members are invited to attend. Business will include (1) announcement of the results of the biennial election and installment of new members of the Governing Board; (2) voting on a routine change in the wording of the Association bylaws as follows: Under paragraph on Membership, 4th line, change "Alumni Fund" to read "Annual Support Program."

GW Leads in Producing Federal Executives

More civilian Federal executives have received Bachelor's degrees from The George Washington University than from any other institution in the United States, according to The American Federal Executive, a book by W. Lloyd Warner, Paul P. Van Riper, Norman H. Martin, and Orvis F. Collins, published recently by Yale University Press.

The University ranks second, behind Harvard University, as a producer of Federal executives with Master's degrees, and is twentieth among institutions which have produced the largest number of Federal executives with Doctoral degrees.

One-fourth of all Federal executives who hold law degrees are graduates of George Washington or Georgetown law schools.

New Television Series

"Q. E. D. Capital," a series of programs exploring the educational resources of the Nation's Capital, is being produced by WRC-TV in cooperation with the University as a part of NBC's Educational Exchange. Local telecast on Channel 4 began on May 11, and is being shown daily Monday through Friday at 6:30 a.m. through June 5. It will be repeated by Channel 4 on Sunday afternoons beginning in mid-June.

The series will be seen later on the NBC stations in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Los Angeles, and will be made available to NBC affiliates throughout the nation.

Host for the series is John Anthony Brown, Vice President for Plans and Resources of the University. Each program features a faculty representative from the University and a distinguished guest representing the resource under discussion.

Critical Languages Program

The University is participating in the Cooperative Undergraduate Program for Critical Languages at Princeton University.

Under the program, a George Washington student may spend his junior year at Princeton studying Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, Persian, Turkish, or Russian, with relevant area studies in the humanities and social sciences. The student must have acquired at least an elementary knowledge of the language he wishes to study.

University President Thomas H. Carroll this year was selected by the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States to read the Gettysburg Address at the Legion's annual ceremony at the Lincoln Memorial on February 12.

English Institute

The University will hold an English Institute for high school teachers for the second time this summer, from July 13 through August 21. Teachers will take courses in literature, language and linguistics, and composition, together with three two-hour workshops per week, and may earn six hours of graduate credit.

Leadership Laboratory

The Third Annual Administrative Leadership Laboratory, sponsored by the University's Center for the Behavioral Sciences, School of Education, and College of General Studies, will be held at Airlie House, Warrenton, Va., June 8-18.

VA in Master's Program

The top 25 officials of the Veteran's Administration, including the Administrator, John S. Gleason, and Deputy Administrator, William J. Driver, have undertaken a Master's degree program in Public Administration under the University's School of Government, Business, and International Affairs and College of General Studies.

Two Summer Sessions

A new two-term summer program begins at The University this year.

The new program will make it possible for a student to earn up to 14 hours of credit during the summer, and will enable the University to utilize its classroom space the year round.

The first session will begin on June 15 and run through July 21, and the second session will start July 23 and run through August 28.

Research

Robert G. Dixon, Jr., Professor of Law, has been awarded a grant under the Rockefeller Foundation's Constitutional Democracy Program for a year's research on "Apportionment, Districting, and Representative Government."

Dr. Dixon will be on leave for the academic year 1964-1965, and will visit and conduct interviews in selected states where there have been major battles concerning state legislative reapportionment or congressional districting.

Other studies recently undertaken by University scholars:

"Studies on Host Factors Influencing the Development of Wound Infection," under the direction of Paul E. Shorb, Jr., Instructor in Surgery, supported by a grant of $26,373 from the U. S. Army.

"The Development of Theories and Techniques Applicable to Electromechanical and Acoustical Transducers," under the direction of Louis de Pian, Professor of Applied Science, supported by a grant of $25,630 from the Office of Naval Research.

"Taxonomy of Occupations for Vocational Guidance," under the direction of Regis Walther, Senior Staff Scientist, supported by a grant of $7,387 from the U. S. Office of Education.

"Problems of Intuitionistic Logic," under the direction of N. David Nelson, Professor of Mathematics, supported by a grant of $4,230 by the Office of Naval Research.

Colonial Sports

The University tennis team won its eighth conference championship in nine years, taking five of the six singles titles and all three doubles. Harvey Harrison won his second straight individual conference championship.

The golf team wrapped up its best season in recent years with a third-place finish in the conference tournament, with number three man Chuck Collett tying for individual honors. One-two men Bob Murphy and Bob Haney also finished among the top ten.

Football coach Jim Camp was cautiously optimistic at the end of spring football practice.

"For the first time since I have been at GW, we had a large enough squad, numberwise, to work with this spring. We are hoping to have a squad of about 40 this fall.

"Prior to the alumni game (which we were fortunate to win 6-0 on an intercepted lateral return for a touchdown) we had felt that our defense, particularly pass defense, was better than last year's. We also had felt that our over-all running game was better. We had better blocking on the line of scrimmage and a better balanced running attack. However, the alumni game clearly pointed out how much we are going to miss Dick Drummond and Merv Holland.

"All things considered, we should be a better football team in 1964. Our kicking game should be better, our defense should be better, but possibly our offense will not be quite as good. However, we will have a better balanced attack. Our biggest improvement should come with better depth."

Colonials Sports Dinner

Guests at the Colonials Annual Sports Dinner on April 6 heard Provost O. S. Colclough emphasize the value of athletics, both intra-mural and inter-collegiate, in university life. He pointed out the importance of athletics in achieving physical fitness, and also stressed the role of athletics in developing the spirit of competition, "a national trait of great significance." He called for "an appreciation of the real values of athletic programs and their relation to a university's fundamental responsibility for intellectual and cultural development."

Awards were presented at the dinner to three outstanding University athletes. The Tommy O'Brien Trophy, awarded annually to the most valuable basketball player, was presented to Joe Adamitis. Dick Duenkle received the Tuffy Leemans Trophy as the most valuable senior on the football team. The Campbell-Kaufman Trophy, presented to the outstanding football player, went to Dick Drummond.
